Farm, Highway, Wage Bills Pass; Congress Adjourns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress began a month-long recess today after sending President Nixon major farm and highway bills to sign and receiving from him a pledge to stop bombing Cambodia on Aug. 15, as Congress has demanded.

Another bill passed in the last-minute legislative flurry would raise the minimum wage to $2.20 in two steps, but it won't be sent to the White House for several weeks.

Congress expects Nixon to veto the bill and is not going to give him the opportunity to do so until after it returns to Washington on Sept. 5.

The three big bills passed by the House and Senate in a busy day of desk-clearing for the annual summer vacation were compromise versions of separate bills each body had passed earlier.

The farm bill inaugurates a new "target price" concept for computing price supports for wheat, cotton and corn under which payments would be made only when the market price drops below the target price. Currently the market prices are higher.

The bill also would limit payments to farmers to $20,000 a year, instead of $55,000 per crop each year as at present.

The House passed the bill 252-151, blocking a Republican effort to attach an amendment that would have barred strikers from receiving food stamps. It then sailed through the Senate on a voice vote.

The highway bill, given an overwhelming 382-34 vote on final passage in the House, would open up the highway trust fund for the first time for mass transit purposes.

No money could be taken from the trust fund for mass transit during this fiscal year. But starting July 1, 1974, $200 million would be available to help cities buy buses and a year later $800 million would be earmarked for buses, rail transit systems and urban highways.

The bill's manager, Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., held up final action on it until he received assurances from Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar that Nixon would sign it.

No such assurances could be given on the minimum wage bill by Labor Secretary Peter Brennan, although he said he would urge Nixon to sign it. However, several Republican senators and representatives said they expect a veto.

The bill, passed by the House 253-152, would increase the minimum wage from $1.80 to $2 two months after enactment, and to $2.20 on July 1, 1974. It would also cover 7 million additional workers, including state and local government employees and domestics.

The administration objects to the rapid increase to $2.20, to the new coverage, and to the failure of Congress to allow a lower minimum for teenage workers.

By not sending the bill to the White House until the end of this month, Congress will prevent Nixon from pocket vetoing it, which is the term for killing a bill when Congress is out of session by simply declining to sign it.

Skylab Capsule May Work

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Space agency officials have expressed guarded confidence that the Apollo taxi ship of the Skylab 2 crew can bring the astronauts safely home after 59 days in orbit, thus avoiding a rescue mission.

Engineering detective work continued in an effort to pinpoint what caused two Apollo jet engines to spring leaks. If the problem is not understood thoroughly, a rescue ship might have to be launched about Sept. 10 to retrieve the three astronauts.

But if another jet engine fails or the laboratory has a major problem in the meantime, Alan L. Bean, Dr. Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma would make a quick trip home in their Apollo, officials said Friday.

"We're planning to launch the next in line vehicle down at Cape Kennedy for a fundamentally unaltered Skylab 3 mission," explained Skylab Director William C. Schneider. "We're taking the prudent steps that would permit us to convert that to a rescue vehicle if such an event becomes necessary."

Bean, Garriott and Lousma remained safe and calm in their orbiting laboratory, pursuing their heavy experiment schedule as if nothing were wrong. Throughout the day Friday they made no mention of the problem with the Apollo ship.

In fact, with their motion sickness cured, they seemed to be enjoying themselves.

During a 15-minute telecast beamed to Mission Control, Garriott pointed the camera to show the United States below and commented, "As you can see, we go along at a fast clip—around the world in 93 minutes and across the United States in almost the blink of an eye."

Garriott, a solar physicist, planned a long session today studying the sun with a battery of telescopes. Bean and Lousma were to aim earth resources sensors and cameras at a 9,000-mile stretch of earth from the northwest coast of the United States, across the mountain states, Texas, the Gulf of Mexico and northern South America.

Mission Control also gave Garriott and Lousma a go-ahead to take a space walk Monday to erect a second sunshade to help cool the laboratory and to replace telescope camera film.

Dem Reforms Must Be Kept

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic party reformers have unveiled a two-step strategy to block revision of the controversial 1972 delegate selection guidelines.

At a news conference Friday, leaders of the liberal Americans for Democratic Action proposed retention of the controversial guidelines and urged they be applied to all of state and local party committees.

At the same time, they accused former advocates of the changes, including National Chairman Robert S. Strauss and Sen. George McGovern, of indifference to the effort to making the party more open.

"There are some people in the party who don't seem to care very much if the doors of this party are open," said Rep. Donald Fraser, D-Minn., the national chairman of ADA.

Fraser, who succeeded McGovern as chairman of the commission that wrote the 1972 reform rules, was joined at the press conference by Washington attorney Joseph L. Rauh, long active in party reform causes, and Mrs. Anne Wexler of Connecticut, who played a major role in writing the 1972 reforms.

Rauh conceded that one reason for urging extension of the reforms is to help fight the move to dilute them.

"It is sometimes good tactics to have a position to the left of where you think the end result should be," he said.

The key issue involves the requirement that national convention delegations have "reasonable representation" of women, young people and minorities, in relation to their percentage of the state's population.

Coming Week To Be Critical For Beef Sales

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — This weekend may be the last for awhile that shoppers will find unlimited amounts of beef awaiting their purchase.

Retailers predict next week to be critical for beef sales. They say consumers will then feel the affect of the closings this week of many major Ohio meat packing firms.

Great Scot stores in Findlay has already announced it is limiting meat purchases to one-third of a customer's total bill.

"If I put all my beef out now, it would be gone by tonight," said Charles Sheets, manager of a Columbus IGA store.

Large chains reported adequate supplies of all meat cuts, but most said they were displaying beef in limited quantities to discourage hoarding.

Bob Evans On Council

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. John Gilligan has appointed Robert L. Evans, president of Bob Evans Farms of Rio Grande, to the Ohio Wildlife Council. He succeeds J. Meredith Darbyshire, who resigned.

Midway Chatter

The Second National Bank of Circleville purchased Libby Bowling's market hog at $85 a hundred Friday night and then had it resold. The proceeds from the second sale, $245, were donated to the Hamrick Youth Memorial Fund in memory of the late Frank Bowling Sr. It was purchased the second time by Bowling Stock Yard.

Mindy Poling was a winner in the pet parade, not Mindy Bowling, the information that was given to The Herald.

Judge not lest ye be judged. The Herald reporter saw Mr. and Mrs. Frank Woodward present during the judging of the pet parade and assumed they were judging. Mrs. Woodward has denied any part in picking winners and said she and her husband were only representing the Circleville Lions Club in conducting the parade. So please don't call them if unhappy with the placings. We don't know who to tell you to call.

Cabinet Quits En Masse

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — President Salvador Allende meets today with his advisers to consider his cabinet's resignation, a move taken to give him a free hand to deal with a massive transportation strike.

His 15 ministers handed in their resignations Friday night during a meeting with Allende over the strike by nearly all owners of trucks, buses and taxis. Their action was intended to give the Marxist president flexibility, including the ability to bring the military into the cabinet.

At first, the president's office said Allende flatly rejected the resignations. But a high official within Allende's popular unity coalition said later that the president decided to put off a decision until Monday or Tuesday.

Allende has said he would not again bring the military into the cabinet, especially since he just reshuffled it on July 5. But the opposition Christian Democrats say only some military men in the cabinet can ease the country's economic and political problems.

One reflection of Chile's economic problems, which include annual inflation of nearly 300 per cent, was yet another devaluation Friday of the Chilean escudo, this time by 25 per cent. The value of the escudo fell from 240 to 300 escudos to the U.S. dollar.

decided to barbecue pork chops at the fair Friday. The price was up from a year ago, but it certainly did not hurt the sale of the chops. If you ever ate one you would know why.

Remember Fred, the rambunctious steer of the 1972 Fair. Fred had a knack of doing the wrong thing, like getting out on the coldest day of winter or the hottest day of summer, dragging its young owner through pastures, briars and brambles and generally misbehaving. And his owner did not get a great deal of financial reward after all expenses were paid.

The sequel to Fred is Hershey, and the story is a little happier if not quite as humorous. Hershey was well behaved, was purchased last November for $41 a hundred, sold this week for $67 a hundred, put a pound of gain on for a little less than $50 a hundred (nothing to brag about) and made its owner about $130 net profit for her eight months of work.

DON'T call him sergeant, call him Grandpa . . . Sgt. Wes Barton, of the City Police Department, was seen on the streets Friday announcing the birth of his first grandchild — a son born to his son and daughter-in-law, Don and Marsha.

Gillmor Bares Finances

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Paul E. Gillmor, R-2 Port Clinton, sponsor of an ethics bill now pending in the legislature, publicly revealed his sources of income Friday.

The Tiffin Republican expressed confidence the Senate measure will receive final approval when the legislature returns Aug. 27 and said, "I think now is an appropriate time to make the information public, although it isn't law . . ." he said.

Gillmor, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee as well as the Legislative Ethics Committee, listed holdings in several firms, including Coastal Gas Producing Co. and Eltra Corp.

Holders of debts, which also would be included under the bill, were Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, the stockbrokers, and the Old Fort Banking Co., which holds a mortgage on his real estate.

Hugh Barnhill, environmentalist, reported on the number of sewage system permits he had completed during the month and the complaints he has received.

Barnhill noted that steps are being taken to eliminate an objectional odor coming from the county landfill caused by waste chemicals being deposited there.

Legend Rediscovered

Whether the fabled continent of Atlantis was real now awaits proof from the United States team of explorers which claims to have found the remains.

Describing the discovery made in the Bay of Cadiz off southern Spain, a spokesman for the 70-member team said evidence was found of roads, columns and other artifacts which could only be found in a sunken city.

Perhaps it is the continent described by Plato and other Greek philosophers as a supercivilization which had advanced in some ways beyond current civilizations. But if the discovery in Bay of Cadiz turns out to be an ancient city, is it necessarily Atlantis?

Legend has a way of bur-nishing the favorable and overlooking the faults. Given the artistic talents of Plato and others, Atlantis, even if it existed, may not have been completely the utopia it has been pictured. It may have been nothing more than a philosopher's dream.

Whatever it was, unearthing remains may produce a momentary excitement but a fuller realization that no matter how good Atlantis may have been, it did vanish from the Earth with only a dream for an impression.

Faking Marilyn

By JEFFREY HART

In recent weeks I have drawn attention several times to the peculiar appetite that seems to exist for pseudo-history.

For example, we now have on the way a big-budget movie based on the theory that John F. Kennedy was assassinated by retired generals, Texas oilmen, and other assorted right-wingers - despite the public availability of evidence to the contrary. Julius and Ethel Rosenberg have been the beneficiaries of posthumous fictitious rehabilitation. A current academic study demonstrates how seemingly respectable historians consciously faked the evidence in order to transfer responsibility for the Cold War from Joseph Stalin to President Harry Truman.

Though William James noted the existence of a "will to believe," all of this strikes me as going rather far. The latest specimen is especially weird. In his new book on Marilyn Monroe, Norman Mailer perpetrates any number of intellectual frauds, which the reviewers have not hesitated to point out, but he saves the biggest for the end, and it's a beaut.

According to Mailer, Marilyn Monroe did not, as generally believed, commit suicide. No, she was murdered. I probably don't have to tell you who dunnit. But I will. She was murdered by right-wingers.

Mailer makes his case indirectly, using rhetorical questions, rather in the manner of a fellow hawking pornographic post cards, but the theory he floats is that she was murdered as a way of getting at Robert F. Kennedy, who was widely believed to be having an affair with her.

"For who is the first to be certain it was of no interest to the CIA, or to the FBI, or to the Mafia, and half the secret police of the world, that the brother of the President was reputed to be having an affair with a movie star...By the end, political stakes were riding on her life, and even more on her death. If she could be murdered in such a way as to appear a suicide in despair at the turn of her love, what a point of pressure could be maintained afterward against the Kennedys."

To be sure, absolutely no evidence exists to support such a hypothesis, as Mailer admits. This is the way he puts it: "There seems next to nothing of such evidence." Right there, to be sure, is a telltale lie. There is not "next to nothing" to support his case. There is nothing.

But having floated his theory, Mailer goes on to develop and extend it. "Yet if we are to grant her this much effect upon the development of one American hero" - Bobby Kennedy - "why not assume even more and see her death as the seed of assassinations to follow." Oh? The "seed of assassinations to follow"? There we have the full-blown fantasy. Not only was Marilyn Monroe murdered by right-wingers, but all the other assassination victims of the 1960s were too. The political Right bumped off John Kennedy, Robert Kennedy, Martin Luther King, Malcolm X, and, who knows, probably Lin Piao too, and most recently made the attempt on Gov. George Wallace. You can forget about Oswald, Sirhan and the other alleged killers.

Curiously, Mailer feels obliged to deny the rumor of a Kennedy-Monroe affair, though at least some evidence exists to support the notion. Joe DiMaggio seems to have believed it at any rate. In a notable incident, he turned his back on Bobby when the latter tried to shake his hand in Yankee Stadium.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — When the economy slows down, so also will payments. Pinched mortgagors delay by a few days their payment to the bank. Borrowers on installment loans sometimes overlook a monthly payment.

The slowdown doesn't involve individuals only. Businessmen will tell you that when their customers are slow to pay there is a tendency on their part to be slow payers also. Even Uncle Sam has been known to play the game.

To varying degrees this behavior is tolerated before a reminder is dispatched, which may then escalate into the demand, the threat and eventually to action should the money not be forthcoming.

The process might be drawn out for months as each side tests the other. But, says the Management Letter, a publication of Prentice-Hall, the tedious process of collection might be unwittingly drawn out by the dinner himself.

"It's bad enough when payments are slow coming in," the letter comments, "but it's even worse when your own efforts actually slow them down further."

After surveying collection letter procedures the editors proved that nobody is perfect. Said they: "Long, dull and wordy collections letters have the effect of slowing down payments."

These are some of the commonest redundancies found in the survey:

—"According to our records," instead of "We find."

—"At an early date," when "Right away" would do.

—"In the amount of" rather than "For."

—"In the event that" instead of "If."

—"It is our opinion that" for "We believe."

—"Reflects a balance of" instead of "Shows."

—"To the attention of the writer" rather than "to me."

—"Under date of" instead of "On."

—"Finalized our decision" when "Decided" would suffice.

Since a downturn in the economy is a very real possibility, more of you will be receiving collection letters in coming months, taxing your ability to come up with new and effective techniques for delaying further.

Here, therefore, is an effective new technique. You can edit the collection letter and return it with your comments, asking that the writer be less wordy and blaming him for the delay in payment.

President Nixon Won't Receive Labor Invitation

CHICAGO (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany says he will break a long-standing tradition and not invite President Nixon to the federation's October convention.

In past years, every president, regardless of party, has been asked to attend the biennial gathering of organized labor.

"Traditions have a habit of coming to an end," said Meany who was attending the federation's executive council meeting in suburban Oak Brook on Thursday.

Asked if Watergate was the reason for not inviting the President, Meany said, "You bet your life it is. Mr. Colson and his gang ... deliberately tried to arrange a confrontation at our (1971) convention for political reasons to win votes for the President."

Actor Tony Curtis, whose real name is Bernard Schwartz, was born in New York June 3, 1925.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Transplantation of kidneys in children has reached a new peak of success at the Children's Hospital Medical Center in Boston.

They have recently released exciting statistics that 95 per cent of the children operated on in the past year are maintaining good kidney function.

For reasons not yet completely understood children are better candidates for transplantation than adults.

It is hoped that information acquired may later be translated into a better understanding of why some adults reject transplants.

Such remarkable results are indeed a testimonial to the scientific research in progress all over the world.

A writer who fractured her jaw had a terrible time drinking the liquids prescribed for her during the time that her jaws were wired together. She found the liquid to be nourishing, but boring and sometimes unpalatable.

When she recovered she decided that "something must be done about the liquid diet."

Wilma King, of the Stamford University School of Medicine, wrote a book cleverly titled, "Blend and Mend."

The book contains many interesting recipes for people who cannot chew their food.

Can you conceive of a Steak Shake? An Apple Pie drink? These are two of the intriguing items to look forward to if one had this diet limitation.

It is known that when patients go into severe shock blood accumulates in the abdomen and in the legs, and fails to circulate properly.

The result is that there is a marked fall in the blood pressure which then threatens the life of the victim.

Many new scientific advances are the peace-time results of research of the Armed Forces.

From the United States Army Aeromedical Research Laboratory, at Fort Rucker in Alabama, comes a new device known as the "pneumatic trouser."

Lt. Col. Burton H. Kaplan, of Newburgh, New York, created this unique pair of trousers to re-circulate blood that stagnates in the abdominal cavity of patients in shock.

The layers of the trousers are inflated with a foot pump, and helps to return the patient's blood pressure to normal.

This excellent device serves as a temporary substitute method of "transfusion" when blood is not readily available.

Ambulance and emergency rescue teams are being taught to use the pneumatic trousers to help accident victims.

Many accident victims probably might not have survived before reaching the hospital without the use of this brilliantly conceived inflatable trouser.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of Harvard's English professors told Robin Moore:

"I would advise you against taking any further courses in creative writing. Your talents don't lie in that field."

That hurt Moore, future author of such best sellers as "The Green Berets," "The French Connection," and "The Happy Hooker."

"What hurt even more was that my other English teachers had the same low opinion of my writing ability," he recalled.

So at first, after getting his degree in 1949, Moore dutifully tried to find greener pastures in other fields. He tried to learn the hotel business under the tutelage of his father, Robert Lowell Moore, board chairman of the Sheraton Hotel chain.

He didn't like it. Then, following his urge for adventure, he says he did some gun running in Cuba — "first for Castro, then against him" — ran a bar called "The Teahouse of the Blue Lagoon" in Jamaica, and worked as a television producer and science fiction script writer in New York.

But all the time he kept churning out novels based on his own experiences.

"I think I wrote six failures in a row," he admitted. It looked as if his Harvard teachers had pegged him right.

His luck turned when his novel, "The Country Team," a story based on CIA operations in Southeast Asia, was sold to a paperback publisher for $250,000 after a meager sale in hard covers.

Since then he has hit nothing but jackpots with his tales of military derring-do and exposures of underworld profiteering in drugs and prostitution. His paperback sales alone run into a dozen millions.

His latest novel, "The Fifth Estate," which deals with an international crime syndicate's bid to control the American presidency, was sold in advance of hard cover production to a paperback publisher for $340,000. Moore is already working on the screen treatment.

Alabama Proves A Paradise For Car Thieves Buying Tags

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)— To show how easy it is to get a license tag for a stolen car in Alabama, a state official bought one for a child's coaster wagon.

In eight months, more than 5,000 tags were sold to buyers who gave their address as "Selma Rt. 1." A grand jury said only 600 families live on that rural route.

One car thief, using the same name each time, bought tags at the Selma courthouse for 13 stolen cars in four months.

State investigators say the car theft racket flourishes in Alabama because the state has no motor vehicle title law.

"It's as easy to buy a tag for a stolen car as for your own," says Capt. Tom Posey, head of the auto theft bureau of the state Public Safety Department.

"All you have to do is walk in the courthouse, or write a letter to some of them, give a rural address and you get the tag."

Until a grand jury cracked down in July 1972, the Dallas County courthouse at Selma did a booming business in the mail order sale of tags. The jury said many of them were issued for stolen cars.

The investigation brought results. Ten thousand fewer tags have been issued in the county this year than last.

But the practice hasn't slowed down in some other counties. Posey's records show tags have been sold for stolen cars within the past year in virtually all of the other 66 counties.

Murphy Co. Reports Income Up

Net income for the quarter ended June 30, 1973 increased 17.3 per cent to $2,169,000 compared with $1,849,000 in 1972, president W. Fred Greenleaf of G. C. Murphy Company announced.

Sales for the same period increased 16.1 per cent or $15,631,000 to $112,513,000. Net income per share for the quarter was 55 cents in 1973 and 47 cents in 1972.

For the 6 months ended June 30, 1973, net income increased to $2,396,000 or 61 cents per share compared with $2,267,000 or 58 cents per share in 1972. Record sales for the period were $201,829,000, up $22,076,000 or 12.3 per cent over the same period last year. As Greenleaf stated at the Annual Shareholders' Meeting on May 8, 1973, the report for the 6 months gives a better comparison of income results for 1973 and 1972.

Projected store openings and renovations for 1973 are on target with 10 new stores added during the first 6 months. These included 4 Murphy's Marts in Butler and Dubois, Pa.; Pekin, Ill.; and Baltimore, Md.; bringing the number of Murphy's Marts now in operation to 13. Six other stores were opened in Tarboro, N.C.; Roanoke, Va.; Gallipolis, Greenville, Pa.; Westernport, Md.; and Louisville, Miss. Four small stores were closed and one is temporarily out of operation because of a fire. Total selling area was increased 411,000 square feet by the new stores and decreased 30,000 square feet by closed stores.

Of the total 42 stores now under contract or construction, 28 are Murphy's Marts with approximately 1,700,000 square feet of selling area and 14 are conventional units with 400,000 square feet of selling area. Nine of these 42 units are expected to open before the year end to add about 425,000 square feet of selling area during the last 6 months of 1973.

MR. AND MRS. DOYLE RICHARD PAINTER JR.

Wedding Vows Read In Garden

The garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Wallace Duffie of Martinez, Ga., was the setting for the wedding of their daughter, Suzanne, to Doyle Richard Painter Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Richard Painter Sr., 1010 Lynwood Ave., Circleville, Ohio.

The Rev. A. H. Simmons, pastor of Warren Baptist Church, performed the double ring ceremony 8 p.m. July 6th. The bride and bridegroom stood under an archway covered with lilies of the valley and foliage flanked by two nine-branch candelabra with glass chimneys.

A program of music preceded the ceremony presented by Miss Sarah Pritchard, organist. Mrs. Lucie Ruzicka sang "The Greatest Of These Is Love" and Dr. Mercer Bridges, "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a pale pink organza gown with a square neckline and Camelot sleeves trimmed with embossed lace. A deep flounce was at the bottom of the full length skirt. The bride wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom, and carried a bouquet of pink and white Sweetheart roses and blue baby's breath with trailing white ribbons.

Maid of honor was Miss Nancy Gail Duffie, sister of the bride. She wore a white dotted swiss organza gown with pink and blue flowers forming vertical stripes and pink ribbon flowing from the round neckline and short puffed sleeves. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies, pink Sweetheart roses and blue baby's breath with pastel ribbon streamers.

Mr. Doyle Richard Painter Sr., was best man for his son.

Mrs. Duffie selected for her daughter's wedding a yellow floor length, long sleeved organza gown trimmed with white lace and embossed panels. Her corsage was of green cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Painter wore a long pink gown with a matching chiffon swag in the back. A deeper pink braid and pearls trimmed the gown and her corsage was of pink cymbidium orchids.

A reception in the garden immediately followed the ceremony. Arrangements of yellow roses, green zinnias, white daisies, Queen Anne's lace, yellow celosia and leatherleaf fern enhanced the garden and three silver candelabra with yellow tapers graced the refreshment table.

As the couple left for a cruise to the Bahamas, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, the bride wore a brown and white sleeveless sheath dress with a jacket and white orchid corsage. The couple now resides at 708 Rockwood Drive, North Augusta, S. C.

The bride graduated from Augusta Preparatory School where she was salutatorian and Augusta College with a Bachelor of Science degree. She currently teaches mathematics at Evans Elementary School.

The bridegroom graduated from Circleville High School and The Ohio State University. He is employed as a chemical engineer by DuPont at the Savannah River Plant in South Carolina.

Parties given for the bridal couple included a dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Dimon Driggers; a coffee by Mrs. Joyce Perkins and Mrs. Ellen Bridges and a luncheon by Mrs. Carolyn Pratt and Mrs. Mildred Bell.

A reception hosted by the bridegroom's parents followed rehearsal the evening before the wedding.

Queen Suggests Swan Birth Control

OTTAWA (AP) — A birth control suggestion for controlling the royal swan population in Ottawa was slipped to Mayor Pierre Benoit by Queen Elizabeth II at a civic luncheon here.

The mayor told newsmen following the luncheon on Wednesday that the rapid growth in the swan population came up during a chat he had with the Queen.

Benoit said he told the Queen that the original 12 swans she had given the city in 1967 on Canada's centennial had grown to 50 and the city was puzzled about how to curb the population increase.

The Queen suggested that only two eggs be left in each nest, keeping the population down, he said.

"It's a simple solution to the problem," said the mayor smiling.

Ohio Power Talks Broken

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — No new negotiations are scheduled between the Ohio Power Co. and 1,000 striking utility workers after a bargaining session Friday resulted in no progress.

The talks were the latest attempt to end more than a month-old strike at six company plants.

The dispute reportedly involves wages and fringe benefits.

Separate talks are scheduled to resume Wednesday between Utility Workers of America at facilities in Canton, Tiffin and Lima.

Talks broke off between the firm and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers employed at facilities in Newark, Steubenville and Zanesville.

Plentiful Foods List Dies; Result Of Fewer Surpluses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty-eight years of Plentiful Foods are over in the United States.

The Agriculture Department phased out this week its Plentiful Foods program, under which it listed monthly food in larger-than-usual supply.

The program was thought of as an aid to consumers with tight grocery budgets but an Agricultural Marketing Service spokesman said it spotlighted foods in need of marketing assistance and was an aid to producers.

The spokesman said the department was expecting "fewer surpluses for quite a long while." As a result, he said, the department announced June 6 that the program would end in its present form, the staff would be dispersed and the last list would be July's.

That July list pushed Navy and pinto beans, rolled oats, corn meal, grits and Maine sardines. It ended, "supplies of other major foods are somewhat lower than usual."

Food prices are at their highest levels in two decades, and many government officials attribute this development to decreased supplies caused by poor weather and increased demand by more affluent consumers.

The idea of the Plentiful Foods program was to help farmers and other producers when high supplies brought prices below costs.

The service was not designed specifically to help consumers, although the consumer-oriented activities within the department did draw on the list for their mass-distributed advice, adding in "the nutrition factors not built into our list." Now the Plentiful Foods promotions will be handled through the normal information and commodity divisions.

MCI Chief Given Governor's Award

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Supt. E. Peter Perini of the Marion Correctional Institution was presented the Governor's Award for Community Action Friday for his "selfless act of bravery in saving the life of another."

The award, presented by Corrections Director Bennett Cooper, said Perini risked his life July 2 in helping highway patrolmen rescue a woman and her five children who were being held hostage in their home by two MCI escapees.

Mandatory Seat Belt Laws Promoted By Companies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's three major automakers have endorsed laws requiring motorists to fasten their seat belts or face fines.

Ford and Chrysler endorsed the mandatory "buckle-up" laws Wednesday as more effective than government proposals to drop seat belts in cars in favor of automatically operated crash protection devices. The best known such device is the air bag.

General Motors, which has initiated an advertising campaign on behalf of the seat belt laws, announced it will proceed with its delayed plans to introduce air bags as an option for the second half of the 1974.

GM's plans had been delayed by a court battle over specifications for a test dummy. The bags costing $200 each now will be available on Cadillacs, Buick Electras, Rivas, Oldsmobile 98s and Toronados.

At the same time, GM has asked that the current Aug. 15, 1975, date for mandatory air bag installation be delayed until researchers can compare various restraints.

Officials of the National Highway Transportation Safety Administration said at a Senate Commerce Committee hearing, at which the automaker also testified, that the agency is actively lobbying in the states that are considering mandatory seat belt laws.

Spurred by a report of a 20 per cent reduction in traffic fatalities in Australia after mandatory buckle-up laws went into effect, advocates in this country have introduced similar legislation in 21 states. The proposed fines range from $15 to $25. No state has passed such a law.

Sidney L. Terry, vice president of safety relations for Chrysler, said, "The Australian experience has lead Chrysler to the conclusion that the most effective measures that can be taken to reduce traffic fatalities are those which promote belt usage, particularly the enactment of mandatory usage laws."

Terry noted that cars coming off the assembly lines after Aug. 15 will be equipped with devices to prevent the cars from starting unless the front seat belts are buckled.

Four Accused In Burglary Get Probation

Four boys, age 15 and 17, were found guilty July 27 of breaking into the East End Market in June.

Three of the boys, all age 17, pleaded guilty to breaking into the store. The fourth, a youth age 15, pleaded innocent but was found guilty. All were placed on probation for three years and ordered to jointly reimburse the store owner for any damages.

In addition, the court ordered all four youths to put in 20 hours of volunteer work at Ted Lewis park before the end of August.

A Chillicothe boy was found guilty of stealing gasoline from Marvin Spangler, but sentencing was withheld pending completion of an investigation by the probation officer.

A child, born August 15, was placed in the custody of Childrens Services as a neglected child. Its parents, both Circleville residents, were reported unable to provide a proper home for the infant.

Local Boy Hurt When Hit By Car

Todd Emerson Sark, 8, 225 E. High St., was treated at Berger Hospital for injuries suffered when he ran into the side of a car 4:09 p.m. Friday on the Lancaster Pike in front of the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

According to the report of Ptl. Hugh Black, the boy was attempting to cross Lancaster Pike when he ran into the side of a car driven by Karla J. Roush, 17, Chillicothe.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Living Arrangement Questioned

DEAR ABBY: Our brother is 21. He just graduated from college, and has a job that pays $100 a week. Brother wants to live at home with our parents. They think it will teach Brother a sense of responsibility if he pays them $75 a month for his room and board.

We don't think children should have to pay to live with someone they love. Our whole family would like to know how you feel about this.

THE OTHER KIDS

DEAR KIDS: How long should an able-bodied, gainfully employed 21-year-old expect to live with Mama and Papa for free? Six months? A year? Forever? Circumstances and opinions differ in all families, however, reasonable people should be able to agree to terms that will satisfy both.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 20-year-old girl, living alone. I date a guy who is 20 and lives at home. He called and some relatives had come in from out of town and wanted to stay all night, but they were short of room at his house so he told his mother he would sleep at a friend's house. Well, the "friend" happened to be me.

When he asked if he could sleep here, I said: "Sure," thinking I'd put him up on the sofa. When it became apparent that he thought he was going to share my bed, I said: "Nothing doing."

He said I was "undersexed" and I threw him out of the house. He hasn't called me since.

Am I undersexed?

LINDA

DEAR LINDA: No. He's over optimistic.

DEAR ABBY: A mother wrote that her daughter wanted to be married in the park by a justice of the peace. She says her daughter doesn't believe in anything, and neither does the young man. Your answer was absolutely right. A civil ceremony is the only appropriate one.

What puzzles so many of the clergy today is why so many people completely ignore the church, but when it comes to being married and buried, they want a minister.

I am a retired Episcopal priest and admit that I have officiated at many such weddings and funerals, but I am still not sure whether I was showing Christian charity or moral cowardice by doing so.

EPISCOPALIAN PRIEST

DEAR PRIEST: I would be inclined to say you showed Christian charity.

DEAR ABBY: You had a phrase in your column which fits me to a "T." People who are "terrific in bed, but lousy otherwise."

My husband picked me up on a street corner. I was 18, and looking for adventure. He had just been discharged from the Army after three years in Europe, and was looking for some excitement. We didn't waste much time getting to know each other. I was amazed at his virility, and he was flattered by my honest need for him.

To make a long story short, we were married, but because I was such a pushover from the beginning, he never really trusted me out of his sight.

Thank heavens we could afford domestic help, because I was the world's worst cook. My talent was in the bedroom. After 27 years, it still is.

My husband is afraid if he loses his virility, I'll leave him for a younger man, and I'm afraid when his sexual appetite tapers off, he won't want me anymore because that's all I'm good for.

So, take it from a woman whose only talent is in the bedroom. It's not enough.

Guests at a family picnic at the home of Mrs. Letha Murray on Sunday included Mrs. Murray's sister, Mrs. Bessie Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Hampshire and daughter, Reynoldsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Murray and two daughters, Lancaster; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Murray and children, Tarlton; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Murray, daughter and son, Stoutsville; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Smith, daughter and son, Adelphi; and Jessie Murray.

Mrs. Morris, formerly of Columbus, is making her home with her sister.

Final plans have been made for the annual fish fry, to be held at the Tarlton Town Hall by the Methodist Church, on Aug. 9. Serving will begin at 4 p.m.

This will be the 38th annual fish fry, the first one having been held on Sept. 20, 1935, at the Town Hall, with the Methodist, Lutheran and Presbyterian Churches cooperating in the venture.

There will be plenty of fish and other good food, and everyone is invited to attend, preferably planning to arrive early.

Astros, Reds Split Twinbill

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Houston pitcher Don Wilson was hoping for a little help against Cincinnati's booming bats. The Astros gave him one run, but it was enough.

"I kidded Lee May on the bus coming to the park. I told him maybe the Reds had tired themselves out against Atlanta," said Wilson after hurling a 10-inning 1-0 shutout in the first game of a doubleheader Friday.

The Reds, who overpowered Atlanta 17-2 the night before, managed only four hits off Wilson, but regained their hard-hitting ways to take the nightcap 11-5.

It was the fifth time the Reds scored more than 10 runs in a game during the past week.

The victory was Wilson's first since July 1 and moved him within one of the

Weiskopf Easy Leader

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Tom Weiskopf shook his head in mock dismay.

"I just can't get a break—not a one," he said in wry humor, then talked about "the luckiest three I ever made in my life" en route to a 64 and the firstround lead in the $25,000 Westchester Golf Classic.

His eight-under-par effort—matching the best score on his current fantastic string—gave him a three-stroke advantage going into today's second round in this rain-delayed event.

Thursday's scheduled opening round was washed out by a two-inch rain that left the hills and swells of the 6,614-yard Westchester Country Club course slick and treacherous to the big gallery of more than 20,000.

Weiskopf, who has won the British and Canadian Opens and three other titles in his last eight starts, held a commanding lead over a group of a halfdozen tied for second at 67 in this event that offers a $50,000 first prize.

The unlikely leader of that group was 57-year-old Jerry Barber, a former PGA champion and now a part-time performer on the tour who has yet to win a check this year.

The stooped, wizened little man was tied with Australian Bruce Crampton, the season's leading money winner and collector of four titles already this season, DeWitt Weaver, Bob Murphy, Gibby Gilbert and Jim Wiechers.

There was a larger group at 68 as the friendly little layout in suburban New York—as usual—yielded some of the lowest scores of the year. Almost half the field of 147 broke par 72.

Some of the game's glamorous names, however, had their difficulties in the muggy heat that was briefly alleviated by an afternoon shower. Defending title-holder Jack Nicklaus and U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller were at 70, six strokes back of the streaking Weiskopf. Arnold Palmer and South African Gary Player had 71s. Lee Trevino is not competing.

Rentzel's Suspension Remains In Effect

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A request to temporarily lift Los Angeles Rams wide receiver Lance Rentzel's suspension by the National Football League has been turned down by a U.S. District Court judge.

But Judge Charles H. Carr did schedule a hearing Aug. 13 on a request for a permanent restraining order against the NFL and the Rams that would force reinstatement of Rentzel.

PCC To Hold Unusual Tourney For Couples

A "Goofy Golf" tournament for couples is scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday at the Pickaway Country Club with unique hazards on each of the nine holes to be played.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kittle and Mr. and Mrs. Gordy Fraser are co-chairmen of the event. All PCC couples are invited to participate.

Lady Bowlers Meet

The Wednesday Night Ladies' Winter Bowling League will meet 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Circle D Recreation Center.

Astros' club shutout record of 16 held by teammate Larry Dierker.

"I don't know why I pitch some of my best ball against the Reds," said Wilson, who nohit Cincinnati in 1969.

Bengals-Dolphins Clash Set Tonight

MIAMI (AP) — Jim Del Gaizo, the second-year Miami Dolphins' quarterback who says he'd rather be traded than spend another year backing up Bob Griese and Earl Morrall, gets a chance to display his talents tonight against the Cincinnati Bengals.

But the lefty has refused interviews to reporters and says he won't talk to anyone until after the National Football League exhibition.

Both clubs are expected to use younger players most of the way tonight-although Bengal Coach Paul Brown says he will start his regulars.

But Brown said he plans to take "a good look" at his younger players at various stages of the game.

Dolphin Coach Don Shula says Morrall and running back Larry Csonka will not play at all. He said Griese and receivers Paul Warfield

Detroit's Lions Upend Redskins In Grid Contest

By ALEX SACHARE

Associated Press Sports Writer

Duane Thomas made his first National Football League appearance since leading Dallas to its Super Bowl victory over a year ago, but it didn't help Washington very much as the Redskins were upended by the Detroit Lions 17-14 in their exhibition opener Friday night.

Errol Mann booted a 10-yard field goal early in the fourth period for the winning margin as the Lions toppled the defending National Conference champions.

Greg Landry tossed a nine-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Larry Walton and veteran running back Mel Farr scored on a 47-yard dash for Detroit's touchdowns. Billy Kilmer hooked up with Jerry Smith on a two-yard touchdown pass and Moses

Kiwanis Rips DuPont, 10-2

Kiwanis stopped DuPont, 10-2, in a Circleville Babe Ruth League contest Friday on the high school diamond.

Phil Roll and Joe Smith combined to hurl the Kiwanis victory. They gave up two hits, walked five and struck out 13. Mearle Logan and Brian Fath shared mound duties for DuPont. They allowed a total of eight hits, 12 walks and fanned nine.

Roll slammed a double and single for the winners, Joe Smith and Herbie Sturgel each rapped a pair of singles while Mike Diltz and Sam Webb had a single apiece. Brian Price and John Payne each had a single to account for the DuPont hits.

Winners Announced In PCC Ladies' Golf

The name of the game at the Pickaway Country Club Ladies' Golf Day was Bingle-Bangle-Bungle.

Results were: A Flite — 1. Phyllis Williams, 2. Hester Weldon and Mary Carpenter, tie; B Flite — 1. Madeline Sanders, 2. Wanda Matesky; C Flite — 1. Jo Fox, 2. Gwynne Priest, 3. Jeanne Shea and Ruth Marshall, tie.

LWBA Sets Meeting

The Lancaster Women's Bowling Association will hold its fall meeting 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Elks Home, 129 E. Main St., Lancaster.

A workshop will follow the meeting and all bowlers are invited.

Now 7-12 for the season, he has a 13-11 career mark against the Reds.

The Astros scored their 10th inning run when Cesar Cedeno's sacrifice fly scored Tommy Agee, who got on base on a throwing error by shortstop Darrell Chaney. Roger Metzger's single moved Agee to third.

The run ended a brilliant pitching duel which began with the Reds' Gary Nolan, recently removed from the disabled list, blanking the Astros for six innings.

But his performance was not without problems. Nolan asked to be taken out of the game early, but stayed.

"I'm glad I kept us in the game, but I'm not glad about the way I felt. The arm was sore. It's hard to describe, and I can't put it into words," he said.

"He didn't think he was going to make it," said Manager Sparky Anderson. "I thought he did fine."

Catcher Johnny Bench added a negative note.

"It's wishful thinking to say he's back. You can't fool anyone who saw it. He's hurting. It wasn't there and he didn't want to foul us up. He's been under a lot of pressure and a lot of demands," said Bench.

Clay Carroll, 3-6, took the loss.

In the nightcap, Houston erupted for four runs in the first inning and held a 5-4 lead before the Reds exploded for seven runs in the seventh, capped by Pete Rose's three-run bases-loaded double.

A record regular season crowd of 52,285 watched the contrasts in achieving victory.

Reliever Pedro Borbon, 4-4, took the win and Tom Griffin, 0-4, was the loser.

"We had to win that one," said Rose. "It was a must game for us." Rose's 4-for-8 performance lifted his batting average to .339.

The Reds were to send Fred Norman, 9-9, against former San Diego teammate Dave Roberts, 11-8, today.

Assistant GM Named By SouthCentral

DANE SWINEHART

Dane Swinehart, area coordinator for the Canal Winchester office of the South Central Power Company, has been named to the post of assistant general manager according to an announcement by H. Newell Stevenson, chairman of the Business Administration Committee of the locally-owned power company.

Swinehart, 36, lives with his wife Karen, daughter Stephanie, 17, sons Steven, 15, and Kent, 9, in Lancaster. The two older children are students at Lancaster High School, while Kent is in the fourth grade at Medill Elementary School. Mrs. Swinehart teaches the fifth grade at West Elementary School in Lancaster.

Swinehart began his career in rural electrification when, as a high school student, he worked for South Central Power during the summer months. He had a variety of jobs, including general labor - digging holes, framing poles, stringing wire; as a staking helper, measuring and setting stakes, carrying materials, and even working in the office, collating and stapling mailers.

After graduating from Lancaster High School, Dana attended Ohio University for a year, then married and moved to Florida. In July of 1956 the Swineharts returned to the Lancaster area and Dane began his career with South Central Power Company working on a spray truck to control brush growth along the line right of way.

He progressed steadily to different job assignments; in October 1956 to tree crewman, in April 1957 to groundman, in April 1958 to lineman third class, lineman second class in April 1959, first class in October 1961. He remained as lineman first class until November 1966, when he was promoted to the job of field engineer, and in January of 1970 was named area coordinator of the Canal Winchester office.

Throughout the years Swinehart has continued his education, and in January 1973 he received his Masters Degree in Business Administration from Xavier University in Cincinnati.

In his new assignment, Swinehart will work closely with, and report directly to, South Central's general manager, Darwin Kindler.
